AMCDRR 2016 03-05 NOVEMBER 2016 – NEW DELHI, INDIA

Risks and vulnerabilities go beyond national boundaries. Actions in one part of the world create disaster risk in other parts. The effects of disaster could be felt across the world. Thus, there is an urgent requirement of working together for making our world disaster resilient. Regional platforms provide an opportunity to address issues of disaster prevention, preparedness and building the resilience of communities in the region.

The AMCDRR serves as a forum for stakeholders to take a shared responsibility and make actionable commitments towards implementation of DRR in the Asian region through the exchange of experiences on successful practices and innovative approaches in reducing and managing disaster risk.

The AMCDRR is an established regional mechanism for disaster risk reduction. It has been instrumental in increasing political commitment and strengthening the disaster risk reduction agenda at all levels.

This first Asian Ministerial Conference for Disaster Risk Reduction after the advent of the Sendai Framework will be hosted by Government of India in November 2016.

The objectives of the AMCDRR 2016 conference are as follows:

a. Transforming the commitment of governments and stakeholders made in Sendai during the WCDRR into national and local action

b. Setting the direction to accelerate regional implementation and monitoring of the Sendai Framework

The expected outcome of the conference will be the following:

a. New Delhi declaration – consolidating the political commitment of governments towards preventing and reducing risk as well as strengthening resilience by accelerating implementation and monitoring of the Sendai Framework in the region.

b. 'Asian Regional Plan for Implementation of the Sendai Framework' – a plan endorsed by the countries for the Asian region.

c. Stakeholder action statements – voluntary statements of action of stakeholder groups towards a 'shared responsibility' approach in implementation of the Sendai Framework.

19. About New Delhi

Delhi, a truly cosmopolitan city with diversified culture, is the capital of the world's largest democracy and a bustling metropolis that has an amazing mix of modernization and carefully preserved antiquity. Sprawled across the west bank of the river Yamuna, it is one of the fastest growing cities in India.

Known as Indraprastha in ancient times, Delhi has wooed rulers, attracted invaders and been built and destroyed several times. The city traces its history to the Mahabharata era, the great epic tale of wars fought between estranged cousins, the Kauravas and the Pandavas for the city of Indraprastha. Between the 13th and 17th centuries, the city remained the seat of political power with successive dynasties choosing it as their capital.

The city's importance lies not just in its past glory as the seat of empires and magnificent monuments, but also in the rich and diverse cultures. Delhi has captivating ancient monuments, fascinating museums and art galleries, architectural wonders, a vivacious performing-arts scene, fabulous eating places and bustling bazaars.
